FRONT COP £30,000

Confidence in the NF As Election Approaches

THE NATIONAL FRONT has received a donation in excess of £30,000. Together with numerous other smaller donations, an increase in membership and a more professional business-like approach by the Party, the donation has put the National Front on its firmest footing since its formation in 1967.

But in the same breath as announcing the donation to the NF's governing body, the National Directorate, Chairman Ian Anderson said there were strict conditions attached to the donation. The money is to be invested and not touched until after the General Election when it is to be used to purchase a Head Office for the National Front.

"There is confidence from those who have donated that after the General Election there will be an influx of members to the National Front at a rate not seen before" Ian Anderson told an NF Executive Meeting in Worthing on Sunday 29th July, "The Party must have something to show these new members and also something to show our loyal membership for all the efforts made at the General Election. Announcing a move to a new Head Office will take care of any post-election blues".

Since the removal of the careerist and crank element from the NF in 1986 considerable efforts have been made to inspire confidence for investment in the Party as a political force in Britain.

The £30,000 donation is evidence those efforts have been appreciated.

LABOUR RETURNS TO THE DAYS OF ROTTEN BOROUGHS

"LABOUR COUNCILS are pouring taxpayer's money into ethnic communities in an all out effort to win the next General Election."

That's the belief of a former life-long member of Rochdale Labour Party who has resigned and sent The FLAG details of a leaflet published in Urdu being circulated to the Asian community in Rochdale.

He says the leaflet is a scandal. "It's nothing to do with Socialism just a bribe to gain ethnic votes at the next General Election. It is a return to the days of the rotten boroughs when votes were bought with cash by politicians, and if the White population were aware of its contents there would be full-scale Race Riots in Rochdale."

He admitted he was at first pleased to see Labour campaigning to win ethnic votes when he received a Labour leaflet through his letterbox in Urdu.

"Every vote counts in the battle to get rid of the Tories" he thought.

To put his mind at rest that the local Labour Party were really getting over socialist principles he went to his local library and asked for a translation.

When three hours later he got the translation he went straight home wrote out a letter of resignation, tore up his membership card and sent it to the local Labour Party.

● COOKING UP VOTES: Labour's Deputy Leader Roy Hattersley will do anything to win those ethnic votes!

What the Leaflet Said

- The Labour Party is working for the welfare of Asian people.
- Asian Language grants have risen to £52,000
- Asian organisations receiving money have risen from 4 to 14
- £60,000 has been given to the Bangladesh Project
- The Labour Party spends thousands of pounds on the Kashmir Youth Project.
- Hamid Chowdry and David Williams moved a motion in favour of oppressed Kashmiris.
- Financial support has been given to the Bangladesh Women Co-operative.
- Financial Aid has been given to the Bangladesh Community Association.
- Boundary Wall and Safety lights have been provided for the Jalalia Mosque.
- Labour have allotted a big piece of land in Bulwer Street for the construction of a new mosque for just £1,000.
- Labour have built houses in Brunswick Street, Buckingham Street, and Morley Street for large Asian families. Such houses will also be built in Gower Street in the near future.
- Provision of Halal Meat in schools
- Appointment of Asian Governors
- Appointment of Urdu and Bengali speaking teachers in schools.
- Over 100 Bengali, Kashmiris and Pakistanis given employment with the local council.
- Formation of an Immigration Aid Unit.
- Provisions of Funds for reunion of relatives.
- Education and employment opportunities for Asian women.
- Labour has put on grand receptions for dignitaries from Pakistan, Bangladesh and Kashmir.
- The flying of Pakistani and Bangladesh flags from the town hall.

MOVING THE GOAL POSTS

IN AN effort to entice more Blacks and Asians into the Police, the entrance exam - which has been in force since 1974 - is to be replaced by a new one that ignores the requirement of 'a knowledge about English phraseology'.

The Commission for Racial Equality Gestapo, which has forced the Home Office to drop the phraseology requirement, believes the new move will stop the drastic decline in the number of immigrants being accepted into the force.

Last year just 42 ethnic minority officers joined the Metropolitan Police. 26 of those have already left the force. This compares with the 66 that joined in 1988 and the 114 in 1987.

The reason why immigrants don't join the Police was revealed in the results of a survey published last month - 84% of ethnic minorities have no respect for the Police.

Young at Risk

A record 58,150 youngsters now have their names on a register of protection for abused children in England and Wales.

The NSPCC found a rise of 35% in the number of children abused with the biggest rise coming in the section concerned with children under 4 years of age.

What sort of sick society do we live that we can care so little for our youngsters?

HOW ARE THE MIGHTY FALLEN

NF MEMBERS of the late 70's will no doubt remember former Labour MP Les Huckfield who foamed at the mouth as he tried to physically stop a National Front march through Nuneaton in 1979.

The MP went on to become a Labour Euro MP for Merseyside. Now he graces less grand places than Strasbourg. In June he was remanded on bail by St Helens magistrates on two charges of dishonestly obtaining cheques to the value of £2,500.

RACE RELATIONS RECORD

NOTTINGHAM COUNTY Council has broken its record for its longest ever meeting.

Councillors went home at 4.00 am after spending nearly 14 hours discussing racial awareness.

Such is the depth of inherent racism in Britain!

Race Lobby Admits - 'Anti-Racism Discredited'

AFTER TWENTY YEARS of using 'GUILT about British colonialism' as their tactic for getting the British people to move over and make room for 5 million immigrant settlers, the Race Relations lobby now changed their strategy!

Race Relations boss Satie Sethi from Southall has admitted that the use of the anti-racist witch-hunts used to silence those who spoke out against immigration had failed and that anti-racism itself had become discredited.

The new policy of combatting racism, which has been introduced by Hounslow Council, relies on educating British people on how wonderful Asians and their culture are!.

First on the brain-washing list were top managers including the Borough's Chief Executive and local businessmen. They have been dispatched to the School of Oriental and African Studies at London University for the 13 week course where they will learn everything they need to know about the history of the Indian sub-continent, Asian religions and the cultural traditions of Asia

Backing up Satie Sethi will be Abdul Halim of the Department of Middle Eastern Studies and Helen Kinitar an anthropologist.

After 13 weeks the Race Relations 'patients' are allowed back into society hopefully convinced how lucky they are to be sharing their country with Asian people.

So the course tells you how wonderful Asians are. But what about re-educating the British people about West Indians and Africans?

"Ah, we are still working on that one" confirmed a Race Relations spokesman!

● WONDERFUL ASIAN CULTURE: Indian tribesmen in Southern India 1911.

The Threat of European Law

Like a Tidal Wave Flowing Inland Over Our Fields and Houses

SIXTY-ONE Spanish fishing boats are plundering Britain's fish stocks and there is nothing we can do about it!

The Spanish boats are fishing our waters in breach of the 1988 Merchant Shipping Act which protects British fishing quotas. But British Law has been overruled by the European Court which says the act is in breach of European Law.

This shocking attack on British Sovereignty by Common Market bureaucrats brought a sharp response from Lord Denning, the former Master of the Rolls.

"European Law is no longer an incoming tide flowing up the estuaries of England." he said, "It is now like a tidal wave bringing down the sea walls and flowing inland over our fields and houses - to the dismay of us all".

Lord Denning believes British Law must come first. He wants the European Communities Act 1972 amended so that decisions made by the European Court are not binding in the United Kingdom unless they are approved by the House of Lords.

● LORD DENNING: Leading a campaign to preserve British Law.

Lord Denning also insists that EC directives should not be imposed unless they have been agreed by the relevant secretary of state.

Lord Denning's campaign is being supported by the Bruges Group, an academic think-tank working to curb the power of the European Court.

Their campaign gets the full support of the National Front.

RELYING ON BRITISH EXPERTISE

BRITISH EXPERTISE saved the lives of five Russian children severely burned when a gas pipe line exploded next to a passenger train.

● EXPERTISE: Made to measure bandages from Oldham.

The children were saved by made-to-measure pressure bandages manufactured by Seton Healthcare of Oldham.

And it's not just Russian children who benefit. The bandages are helping take care of 10,000 burns cases in Britain each year!

TROUT SUFFER WATER SELL-OFF!

A TWO MILE stretch of the River Worth in West Yorkshire had its acidity increased by 100,000 times after a private water authority discharged a water treatment chemical into the river.

Yorkshire Water wiped out the entire trout population of the river killing over 1,000 fish with a ferric sulphate emission from their Oldfield Treatment plant.

The trout holocaust cost the company a mere £4,000 in fines. So much for the Tory's firm assurances that the privatised water companies would be strictly monitored.

The National Front is pledged to return the Water Industry to the Public Sector.

BULLIES GETTING OFF LIGHTLY

"ALL TOO often when a Black child is caught misbehaving he or she tells the teacher they are being racist if they punish them. So the teacher gives them a light punishment".

That was Professional Association of Teachers General Secretary Peter Dawson annoucing that many of his members were concerned at the rising level of violence in schools.

The union also revealed results of a survey they carried out that pointed to an increase in White pupil resentment over the non-punishment of Black trouble-makers in the classroom.

Peter Dawson said that a new brand of Black racism was causing problems and damaging race relations.

● PETER DAWSON: Concerned about Black bullies in the classroom.

● OUTBREEDING THE LOCALS: "...an alien species that should never have been brought here in the first place." How the Ministry of Agriculture sees the invasion of Britain by Canada Geese.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

IN THE Natural History Programme, Radio Four, Sunday evening 8th July, a Ministry of Agriculture spokesman was advocating extreme and drastic measures to rid Britain of Canada Geese which are outbreeding local species and preventing them from inhabiting their own natural territory.

Said the MAFF spokesman "These geese are an alien species and should never have been brought here in the first place - who knows what harm they will cause in the next 20 years".

The Daily Mail on Thursday 5th July reported that the Pakistani population had risen by 50% between 1981 and 1988 and the number of Bangladeshis more than doubled up by 109%. Between 30 and 34% of all Pakistanis and Bangladeshis are aged under 10 years and they are the fastest growing ethnic minority group.

Isn't amazing what double-talk you can pick up from the Establishment and the terrifying parallels we can draw from nature.

DUTCH FIRM SACKS BRITISH WORKERS

6,000 BRITISH workers employed by the Dutch electronic conglomerate, Philips face the dole queue after the firm announced job losses at its factories in Lancashire and the North-East.

British workers suffering at the hands of foreign employers is why the National Front believes that "All goods bought in Britain should be made in Britain in BRITISH factories by British workers!

Money donated to this fund will be placed in a deposit account and kept totally separate from any other monies raised by the NF.

FRONT MEET IN BATH!

BATH NF Chairman, David Perry opens the first local branch meeting for over 10 years in the Somerset town on Monday 16th July.

• ACTION IN GRIMSBY: Local members conduct the first National Front papersale in Grimsby for eight years.

DAY OF ACTION

NF MEMBERS from Grimsby and Hull held a day of action in Grimsby Town Centre on 21st July.

Grimsby Organiser, Mark Richardson, reported that there was a good response from the public with more 800 'Did They Die in Vain' leaflets being given out.

So encouraging was the reaction of both young and old that more days of action in the area are being planned for the future.

Fanatic Siddiqui Gets Front Picket!

WITH JUST 48 hours notice about 15 members of the National Front held a protest demonstration outside a conference in central London being addressed by Dr Khalim Siddiqui, the Moslem fanatic who is demanding the setting up of an Islamic Parliament in Britain.

The conference in July was attended by about 400 Moslem leaders who were shocked by the National Front demonstration and the placards which invited them to leave our country if they don't like our laws.

The organisers of the conference panicked when the National Front turned up and called for the police. The sergeant who sauntered along some twenty minutes later asked if we were having any trouble and how long we were going to be there and then wandered off.

Building workers who were working on a site opposite the conference hall in the University of London came across and several copies of The Flag were sold - some of the builders told us of their solution to the problem of Islamic fundamentalists in Britain - a solution that is somewhat more extreme than that of the National Front.

One large group of Asians from Bradford who walked past into the conference issued a stream of verbal abuse.

A number of journalists and television commentators saw the demonstration and some Asian papers reported our presence there. Inside the meeting Kalim Siddiqui called for all British laws to be scrutinised to see if they accord with Islamic law and if not, you can surely guess which laws he wanted altered.

His speech was widely reported and he is certainly helping National Front recruitment as more and more people get fed up with his arrogant demands.

 The re-launching of the London Actvities Group is going to make sure that in future there are lots more of this type of activity which is very productive in ensuring that more and more people get to hear about our policies and that the National Front is back and campaigning for the survival of our nation.

BT GET THEIR POUND OF FLESH

PEOPLE ON low incomes and the blind are the sections of the community hit most by British Telecom's latest price rises.

By cutting the time allowed for a local call at cheap rates in the evenings and weekends from 5 mins 30 seconds to four minutes, BT are hiking their prices up by a massive 15% with the price rise hitting the section of the community who can least afford it.

While big business get cheaper calls, home phone owners have to pay an increase of £2.05 on telephone rental and an extra £17.15 on connection charges.

No doubt BT are keen to improve on their £2.3 billion profit they made last year!.

Red Threat to Car Industry

BRITAIN'S BELEAGUERED car industry faces even more competition with car imports destined to arrive from Russia.

The Aleko is a hatchback powered by a 1.6 litre engine, jointly developed by Fiat and Lada.

Hot on the heels of the Aleko will be the ZAZ Tavria a small front drive coupe built in the Ukraine.

TANKER-FREE ZONE AROUND BRITISH COAST

OIL TANKERS should be banned from the coasts of Britain. That's the conclusion The FLAG arrives at after the latest environmental disaster on the Devon coast.

1,000 tonnes of oil hemorrhaged into the English Channel from the Liberian tanker Rosebay after a collision, polluting the holiday beaches of Wembury, Bigbury-on-Sea and Salcombe.

The cleaning operation will take a month and cost more than £1 million. The spraying of dispersant chemicals onto rocky shores and the scraping of oil from shores causes untold damage to marine plants and animals on top of the damage already done by the oil slick.

Nine times out of ten, oil spillages occur from tankers flying flags of convenience and manned by inexperienced crews. The waters around our island should be made safe from such cowboys by introducing a tanker-exclusion zone around Britain.

And what about Britain's North Sea oilfields?. It should be for the use of Britain and the British people only and brought ashore by a pipeline!

● OIL SLICK: The Devon coast is threatened by the Rosebay spillage.

They Should be Working in British Factories

AMERICAN WORKERS at the McDonnell Douglas Aircraft factory in Long Beach, California have been sacked in favour of British workers imported by the company to do their jobs.

Understandably American Trade Union leaders are up in arms over the management's move and have launched a 'BRITS OUT' campaign against British workers.

Union Boss, Douglas Griffith, said "The British must go because they are imported workers and Americans should have the first right to jobs".

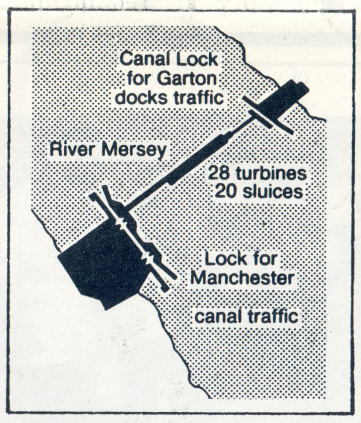
His viewpoint is echoed by the National Front. British workers should be in Britain working in British factories. It is a scandal that, with Britain's shortage in skilled engineers, such workers, trained in Britain, are using their expertise abroad.

We support the American Union's campaign of 'BRITS OUT' as we hope they support our campaign of 'YANKS OUT'.

First Tidal Power Project on the Mersey

BRITAIN'S FIRST tidal power project looks like being built on the Mersey.

The Mersey Barrage Company hope to harness the tides of the Irish Sea to generate electricity at a very low cost. The scheme is a long-term project which will initially cost £850 million, but for that investment the barrage will be producing electricity for the next 100 years.



The Mersey Barrage would play a significant role in the war against Global Warming by cutting the amount of coal burned in Britain by 750,000 tonnes a year.

The National Front actively supports the implementation of renewable energy sources such as wind, wave and hydro-electric power.

The National Front also supports the development of solar energy, capturing the immense energy output of the sun. Sweden has based much of its energy programme on the use of solar power and the scheme has proved an immense success.

The welfare of our environment is essential to the welfare of our land and our people. The introduction of environmentally-friendly sources of energy is a great step in assuring a pollution-free future for our children and grandchildren.

ABERFAN APPEAL

WHILE THE British people are being ask to regularly cough up money for aid to the Third World on top of the aid already given by the Government, requirements a little nearer home go by the board.

Parents of children killed in the 1966 Aberfan tip disaster have been forced to launch an appeal to raise money for the upkeep of the South Wales village's cemetery.

A fund set up after the tragedy, in which 116 children and 28 adults were killed, is not producing enough cash to look after the childrens' graves.

Brain Drain

HEADHUNTERS FROM European and American Universities have targeted Britain to fill 17,000 academic posts.

Britain's intelligentsia will be lured from our country by financial gifts to pass on their expertise to students in foreign universities, leaving British students to be taught by teachers with the lowest qualifications.

The National Front believes Britain's academics should be given the financial incentive they deserve. But the NF also believes lecturers and teachers educated by the British education system owe a debt to Britain and should repay that by educating British youngsters.

Winder didn't say whether his organisation gave loyal patriotic British workers a good or bad reference.

Media Ignores Campaign for Ulster Soldiers

WHILE TELEVISION programmes, both fact and fiction, inundate our screens calling for the release of IRA supporters involved in the pub bombings, little is heard of the case of the Armagh Four.

They are four soldiers jailed six years ago for their alleged involvement in the murder of Republican Adrian Carroll.

Championing the case for the release of the soldiers are Ulster women Elaine Wright and Lyn Chance. They have organised and taken part in hunger strikes, petitions and days of activity to draw attention to the case.

At last their efforts seem to be having some results with the Home Secretary being informed of all the inconsistencies in the case and requested to re-open it.

However Lyn Chance was scathing at the lack of support for their campaign from the media. "It seems almost fashionable to publicise people accused of IRA crimes. Wouldn't it be nice if those who spend thousands of pounds at the BBC and ITV could show half as much interest in the case of the British officers".

Countryside Ravaged!

WHILE THATCHER'S Government seek to clamber aboard the 'green' bandwagon, the road transport lobby which holds the Tories in thrall ravages the land.

Most recently, ravaging a nature reserve designated a Site of Special Scientific Interest in the very constituency of Tory Road Minister, Roger Freeman.

● Roger Freeman

Balfour Beatty dumped hundreds of tons of rubble all over the site in Northamptonshire whilst building a Tory pet project the A1-M1 link road.

Northamptonshire County Council estimate that 30-40% of the site, between the villages of Barton Seagrave and Pytchley, has been ruined. The roadbuilders claim that the Government's Roads Department did not mark the site on the maps they gave them.

● RAVAGING THE LAND: Profit from roadbuilding funds the Tory Party.

As Mr Adrian Coulson, director of the Northamptonshire Wildlife Trust, said, "With a little more care the site need not have been destroyed".

But the Tories don't care about our countryside. All they care about is the profits of big roadbuilding and transport firms, profits from which the Tory Party is funded, bought and paid for.

• GREENWICH MEAN TIME: The Pips are no longer British made but American imports.

Britain is Living on Borrowed Time

YET ANOTHER COMMODITY which Britain used to export to the world has now ceased production in this country, forcing us to be totally dependent on importing it from abroad. It is something that we use every day - the time.

For many years, Greenwich Mean Time, carefully monitored by the Royal Greenwich Observatory, first in Greenwich itself in London, later at Herstmonceaux in Sussex, was the standard for the world.

Every fifteen minutes a battery of carefully synchronised clocks, atomic in recent years, generated five short and one long pip. Sent by landline, every hour on the hour the BBC transmitted the Greenwich time signal, accurate to the micro-second, to the world. The famous "pips".

Britain's GMT standard was used by almost every other country to set their clocks by.

Alas, successive Governments have steadily run down the GMT time service. From a peak in the mid-seventies of eight full-time staff and two electronic engineers on standby, manning the bomb-proof bunker under the Royal Greenwich Observatory housing the clocks, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, the service was cut back again and again until by the start of this year just one person was left tending the clocks. The end was coming . . .

On February 5th this year, sixty-six years to the day since the first GMT pips were broadcast by the BBC, the last ever British-made pips were sent, at 1.00pm across the airwaves. By last month the Royal Greenwich Observatory had been reduced to a rump at Cambridge and the Time Department closed down forever.

Now we import time via satellite from clocks in the USA. The National Physical Laboratory at Teddington, Middlesex, simply takes the American imported time - for the use of which we pay - and relays it to users in Britain.

The BBC pips may sound like they have always done, but they are no longer 'Made in Britain'. They are American imported fakes.

So now Britain, which once set the clocks of the world, cannot even keep its own time any more. We are living, literally, on borrowed time - borrowed foreign time at that. Symbolic if you think about it . . .

Where have all the Flowers Gone?

MANY SPECIES of British wild flowers have become extinct already and a further 50 species are in danger of being wiped out in the next few years, warns a report issued by the Royal Society for Nature Conservation, published last month.

The report Where have all the Wild Flowers Gone?, is based on reports from 48 wildlife trusts across the country. It records the disappearance of such wild flowers as the Yellow-Wort from Cumbria, the Greater Sundew from Cornwall, the Corn-Cockle from Herefordshire and the Fritillary from Leicestershire and Rutland.

The report blames this devastation of our flora on the ravages of agri-business and intensive forestry, combined with land being built over by get-rich-quick property developers.

In short, selfish plutocratic greed, the values Thatcher and her Tories so avidly uphold.

Empty Words

IT IS IRONIC that Mrs Thatcher's words of condemnation for the IRA after the murder of Ian Gow should sound so empty. Ironic because Mr Gow was a personal friend of hers and she has no doubt felt genuine sadness at his death and anger at the atrocity.

But, of course, we have heard it all before. Time and time again she has, in her studied strained tones, denouced the IRA and time and time again her government has done nothing to stop the atrocities the IRA commit.

The brutal murder of Ian Gow by the IRA must be their last outrage. The British Army must be given the authority to search out and destroy all units of the IRA. Supporters and apologists for the IRA should be barred from Britain and passive terrorists such as Gerry Adams should be imprisoned for incitement to murder.

No more empty words. Let's have action!

Stop This Madness

CHARLES McCOURT was a 45 year-old electrical fitter from Oldham, Greater Manchester. He died on Sunday 29th July while working on an electrical cable. He will be missed by his family.

Mr McCourt's death brings the number of people killed working on the Channel Tunnel to seven. The accident rate in the tunnel is twice that of the normal construction industry.

When are the proponents of this disastrous project going to stop their madness. How many more people are going to have to sacrifice their lives on a tunnel that no one wants, and no one cares about.

The Channel Tunnel is a disaster - Let's fill it in!

Front Team Visit Ulster

HUNDREDS OF COPIES of 'The FLAG' sold, friendship with Ulster Loyalists made and renewed, and an unprecedented honour for our Party representatives. Those were the achievements of the NF's visit to Ulster over the traditional Loyalist Twelfth of July celebrations.

On their arrival in the Province, most of our team were kindly provided with accommodation above a Loyalist memorabilia shop in the heart of East Belfast. The Eleventh night saw our sales team ensconced into the early hours around a blazing traditional street fire singing Loyalist songs and enjoying making acquaintances with the local people.

The next morning, in an unprecedented honour, Torbay & South Devon Organiser, Mark Cotterill, was invited to lay a wreath on behalf of the Loyalist community of East Belfast in memory of the fallen in Ulster's twenty-year war for survival.

Mr Cotterill led the local Gertrude Star Band and Orange Lodge to the War Memorial raised by the local people to their war dead, where he duly laid the wreath. As NF members from "across the water" stood in solemn silence side by side with local East Belfast residents remembering those slain in defence of our country, the feeling of solidarity with our beleaguered fellow-Britons had never been stronger.

After the wreath-laying our sales team set off alongside the tens of thousands of Loyalists parading to Finaghy Field. Young and old alike positively pursued our sellers in their eagerness to buy the NF paper.

The next day it was off to the seaside at the resort of Bangor where NF literature was sold to the Royal Black Preceptory paraders from Lurgan, Co. Armagh.

Everyone involved with the Ulster trip were well satisfied with the way things went. Once again, not only had hundreds upon hundreds of our papers been sold, but our commitment on the spot to Ulster's fight had again been demonstrated.

 Many thanks to Bobby, Robert, Rene, Sue, Charlie and the staff of The 'Ulster' magazine for their hospitality.

Ulster's Race Laws

THE NOTORIOUS Race Laws, under which journalists in Britain, like their counterparts in South Africa, have been thrown in jail for criticising their Government's racial policies, look set to be extended to Ulster.

This was the course recommended in their report presented to the Government at the end of June by the Standing Advisory Commission on Human Rights.

The Commission, chaired by liberal Alliance Party hack and Whitehall stooge Sir Oliver Napier, also demanded even tougher laws to prevent IRA supporters being excluded from British jobs, homes and welfare hand-outs.

Ulster Secretary Brooke welcomed the report, to which he said he would give "very careful consideration". He was "firmly committed to ending discrimination".

The extension of the Race Laws to Ulster is a foretaste of new agonies in store for the Province. Currently, although the million British people of Ulster are afflicted with half a million Irish, descendents of 19th and early 20th Century immigrants from the territory of the present Irish Republic for the most part and the source of most of Ulster's present woes, they only have 5,000 Chinese, 1,000 Indians, 700 Pakistanis and 300 Vietnamese.

No doubt, like their counterparts on the mainland, soon to make common cause with the IRA. Ulster must be kept British. And that means Ulster must be kept White . . .

Strike Now

I FOUND the recent report of the American Presidential Commission on Terrorism exceedingly heartening.

No ritual expressions of horror here. No pious hopes that the "international community" might take some action. No earnest conviction that terrorists could be weaned from their wicked ways by society's disapproval.

Not a bit of it. The Commission, mainly concerned with bomb attacks on American aircraft such as the Lockerbie atrocity, came right out and recommended that any country would be justified in making pre-emptive and retaliatory strikes against states harbouring or equipping terrorists.

Bravo!

Well now; since David Dinkins, the Black Mayor of New York, has recently signed an order naming a street corner after fugitive IRA murderer Joe Doyle, I presume that the Presidential Commission won't mind a bit if we lob a few bombs into the heart of Manhattan. Seeing that it's New York, probably half of America would cheer us on.

As for Eire, which not only harbours and equips IRA terrorists but hollers "foul" on the rare occasions when one of them is accidentally caught, surely here is a case for pre-emptive, retaliatory, and punitive strikes, with special attention to the Presidential Palace.

Just one little problem though. If we're going to attack the supporters of terrorism wherever they're found; what are we going to build after we've flattened Kilburn?

Sons of Liberty

IN the beginning was President Tubman who was overthrown by Samuel Doe who became President Doe who was overthrown by Charles Taylor who became President Taylor . . .

The chronicle of presidential succession over the last ten years in the Black African state of Liberia has the kind of inevitability as all that begatting in the Bible. One might have thought that with a population no greater in size than that of South East London, they might have managed a better kind of government - but then, I suppose, one might say the same about South East London which is, incidentally, rapidly acquiring the racial composition of Liberia.

Not, of course, that Liberia is in most ways any different to the other Black African states, all of which are ruled by either military dictatorships or gibbering Black despots who, in company with simpering White degenerates, are demanding that their kind of government be instituted forthwith in S.Africa.

They all believe in democracy of course. They all believe in one man one vote. The only point of dispute is which one man is going to exercise it.

What is different about Liberia is that it has not been a colony since 1825 when it was bought by the United States as a home for repatriated American negro slaves. It was given a constitution based on the American one and has been subsidised by the USA in varying degrees ever since. The Americans who, it seems, were as dense then as they are today, really believed that the freed slaves would, through their contact with the White man, have acquired characteristics that would enable them to institute a democracy that would serve as a model for the rest of Africa - a sort of Ancient Greece with coconuts.

What actually happened was that the freed slaves immediately set about oppressing and enslaving the indigenous tribes and continued on that course until recently when the descendants of the Black settlers were ousted from government. Now the Liberian Army, composed mainly of President Doe's tribe, has vowed to fight to the death against the insurgents who belong to President-in-Waiting Charles Taylor's tribe. Since they are likely to get their throats cut anyway they haven' really much choice.

Isn't it comical the way that conscience-mongering Western "liberal" boneheads really believed that, by giving these people a smattering of European ethics and garbing them grotesquely in the archaic fancy dress of our parliamentary institutions, they could establish democracy in Africa?

On second thoughts though, with all that murdering going on, it's not really that much different from Washington DC.

Stranger Than Fiction

THE TEARING down of the Iron Curtain and the collapse of communism in Europe has had an unexpected side effect that has brought grief and misery to a large section of Britain's workforce. Yet it is highly unlikely that anyone has given a thought to the plight of the victims and even if they had it is even more likely that nobody would care - nobody but me, that is. I'm thinking of writing a book about them called "The Secret Holocaust".

The victims to whom I refer have devoted their lives to raising goose pimples and eliciting more gasps of surprise than you can shake a stick at. They are the Cold War spy thriller writers; people like John le Carre and Len Deighton.

Just spare a thought for them. There they were working in Britain's most successful growth industry, much of whose production was going for export, then, without warning, they find that the industry has gone bust and they are thrown out of work without so much as a penny of redundancy pay. Worse still; they've probably all got a masterpiece tucked away under the bed - the spy story to end all spy stories - just waiting to go to the publishers. It's heart-rending.

So I've founded The Distressed Spy Thriller Writers Benevolent Fund to help these unfortunates through their darkest hour. Just send donations to me, preferably in cash, and I'll see they're put to good use.

Until the money comes rolling in, I suggest that John, Len, and the rest try their hands at writing thrillers about Middle Eastern politics. There are more twists and turns and shock horror gasps surprises in this field than in a whole bookcase of Cold War epics.

I've commented before about The Strange Case of The Arms For Hostages Deal between Iran and the USA when Israel acted as the go-between and flew American arms on an Israeli plane to Teheran airport - this at a time when Iran was the implacable foe of the Zionists and was dedicated to the destruction of Israel. Top that, le Carre!

Now we have the even stranger case of Mrs Daphne Parish, the British nurse jailed by the Iraquis for assisting the Iranian Farzad Bazoft, the man executed by them for spying. Due to the personal intervention of titanic world statesman Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia, Iraq's President Sadam Hussein has released Mrs Parish from the pokey before she even had time to get her first prison uniform dirty. Since Hussein's idea of compassion is to put his enemies out of their misery by bombarding them with poison gas, this act of mercy is bewildering - a bit like being told than Gengis Khan was a vegetarian. Kaunda is probably correct however, in alleging that Bazoft's execution was the result of the tirade of abuse directed at Hussein by the British Government and media.

However, Kaunda is a friend and colleague, some would say stooge, of Tiny Rowland, chief executive of the multinational company Lonrho. The Observer newspaper is owned by Rowland and it was his paper boy, Editor Donald Trelford, who employed the convicted Iranian criminal Bazoft as a "journalist". It was the Observer that started the campaign of denunciation against President Hussein in which all the other Fleet Street hacks joined so enthusiastically.

Yet when Mrs Parish was released she was flown from Baghdad to Zambia in - guess what - a Lonrho executive jet; probably the same one that flew ANC terrorist Oliver Tambo to Sweden for treatment after his heart attack.

Pick the bones out of that one, Deighton!

As for me, I'm just baffled. Dammit, I'd be tearing my hair if I had any!

Run For Your Lives

IT IS almost three hundred years since the poet Alexander Pope wrote: "Vice is a monster of such frighful mien - That to be hated needs but to be seen - But seen too oft, familiar with her face - We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

Old Pope knew a thing or two for today it has come to pass. We have been made wholly familar with her face. We are obliged to endure it and pay homage to it. While not yet actually compelled to embrace vice, one feels it is only a matter of time.

Now I've never been in favour of queer bashing. Homosexuality male and female, is a distasteful fact of life; it always has been; it always will be.

As long as queers were discreet; as long as they did not flaunt their perversions in public; they could be regarded with quiet contempt by the normal majority since they posed no real threat to the community.

However, since the "liberals" made homosexual practises among consenting adults legal, it has become neither discreet nor confined to consenting adults. It is shamelessly flaunted in public, not least on our television screens; that evil eye in the corner of our living rooms.

Far from being a persecuted minority, homosexuals are now aggressively militant and clamorous - bent (if you'll pardon the expression) on putting the rest of us in our place. It is all reminiscent of Berlin in the thirties and a true measure of our decadence that the majority are too timid to oppose it.

For to oppose homosexuality, even to be disrespectful to its practitioners, has come to be regarded as almost illegal. The Sun newspaper, which is disrespectful to everyone, has been admonished by the Press Council for describing shirt-lifters as "poofs". A judge, sentencing a paederast to jail for sexually abusing young boys, felt obliged to cover himself by saying "I am not sentencing you because you are homosexual . . ." possibly in deference to some of his colleagues; the ring of bewigged bumboys discovered on the Scottish Circuit.

At the International Conference on the Family held recently in Brighton, a meeting attended by Princess Di herself was disrupted by creatures describing themselves as Gays and Lesbians who invaded the platform to denounce those who regarded family life as being normal. They were not, incredibly, attacked by the audience nor ejected by the police who commented, limply, 'everyone has a right to express their opinion." Oh really? The National Front too?

Two days later the police attitude had changed. Anti-abortion campaigners demonstrating outside a notorious Brighton abortion clinic were arrested for disturbing the peace.

The cops certainly know which side their bread is buttered.

As the Bible has it; "Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil."

Alternatively; "All that is required for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing".

It is not, however, true to say that good men are doing nothing. They are all very active - running for cover!

No More Talk of Compromise

IN RECENT issues of The FLAG and Vanguard, people have expressed the view that Red Socialism is a spent force and we can now hold dialogue with the Reds or at least lessen our hostility to them.

I believe they are mistaken views. In my own home city, for instance, the Labour Party has never been stronger and with probably a third of the population living in slum conditions and poverty increasing all the time, they can be expected to strengthen their grip.

By all means be ready for radical solutions but let's have no more talk of compromise!

Was The Empire Worth It?

HAVING SEEN recently that a record number of immigrants, 117,000 to be exact, have settled in the United Kingdom last year, makes me wonder if there are any more left to come or do we have all of them now?

When I look at the history books concerning the British Empire and the exploitation of country's here, there and everywhere I wonder whether it was all worth it.

When you see the state of Britain today with the Empire responsible for the multi-racial nightmare inflicted upon us, we have certainly paid the price for our previous generations adventurism.

From 'Death on the Rock' to 'Dear Sarah'.

A LADY wrote to you recently beseeching The FLAG to lift its ban on EastEnders. As you may have seen it was premature. Now they have moved a whole new West Indian family into Albert Square, everyone of them a paragon of virtue.

All the White families in this pathetic soap opera have been broken up through infidelity or seen their children commit suicide or become one-parent mums, and yet flying in the face of reality the West Indian mob are a scandal free family.

This is typical of of the BBC's anti-White attitudes - and ITV aren't much better. hardly a week goes by without them screening some new propaganda on behalf of the IRA. From Death on the Rock to Dear Sarah, the bombardment of anti-British programmes goes on unabated.

UDM was 'Moderate Labour'

I AGREE with Clive Reid's point that your otherwise excellent paper is often spoiled by a lack of editorial judgement. Looking back over previous issues there are a number of items which should not have been printed - hopefully such lapses will not be repeated. I was pleased to see that the July issue was not marred in this way.

In fact the only item that I would criticise is that concerning Arthur Scargill and the UDM. Scargill may well have been proved right over pit closures, but I thought the tone a little too pro-Scargill in view of the scandal concerning the missing £1.4 million donated to the NUM by Soviet miners.

It is also worth bearing in mind that the UDM split could have been averted had the NUM leadership been prepared to ballot their members prior to calling a national strike. I would also question your description of the UDM as 'a Tory Front'. No doubt some UDM officials are pro-Tory and some were probably pro-SDP before that party's demise, but moderate Labour would be a more accurate decision.

Indeed I recall that there was a breakaway Moderate Labour Party in the Mansfield area following the 1984 strike. A Moderate Labour candidate stood at the 1987 General Election in Mansfield and polled 1,580 votes thereby reducing the Labour majority to just 56!

Women are the Most Committed Campaigners

IT'S DISAPPOINTING that the National Front appears to be so male orientated.

History shows that women are the most committed campaigners and will stand up against the most severe repression in pursuing their beliefs. The campaign for 'Votes for Women' being a good example

As well as swelling the ranks of the National Front as it fights for British racial survival, a growing lobby of women activists would give the NF a much better image.

How Long Before We Say NO!

FOR HOW much longer will English people accept the hypocrisy of our so called 'leaders'? Some of the sicker members of this Government are now considering the ultimate betrayal: On the one hand 250,000 Hong Kong Chinese are to be given British passports and the right of abode in this country. On the other hand, plans are being laid to deprive White South African British passport holders of their right of abode.

Labour Party traitors have already expressed their support for such criminal action. Their argument? They 'Don't want supporters of apartheid living next door to them. No they would presumably prefer some lunatic Muslim dedicated to the destruction of our society. What irony!

How indicative of the depravity which now rules our lives. Family ties are not merely ignored, as if this was not crime enough, they are seen as evil and merit destruction.

South Africans of English descent are our blood relatives. They are our brothers and sisters, yet we are more willing to give refuge to Hong Kong Chinese than we are to English South Africans.

Internationalism controls us to such an extent that the betrayal of our kith and kin can be proposed in the confidence that we will not rise up to stop it. What eternal shame on the English people that we sit by in passive acceptance of this.

When our children are starving will we again do as the internationalists bid and take the food from the mouths of our babes so that it may be given for the benefit of others in the Third World? If it is politically expedient to put alien before relation, if it is in the interests of internationalism to ignore ancient principle, then internationalism will insist that we do it!

How long before we say NO!

And always hold it high
When we defend
All we believe is right

We'll always march and fight
Our "Jack" on high,
Always looking down.

So come you sons,

Join our ranks
For then we'll never fail.

We'll stand and fight as one
Our flag will fly.

Hayward Promises Glory

"WOLVERHAMPTON Wanderers Football Club is back in the hands of the people of Wolverhampton" announced multi-millionaire, Bahama-based businessman Sir Jack Hayward after buying the club for £2.1 million.

In truth the club is back in the hands of one man who used to live in Wolverhampton, but supporters of Wolverhampton Wanderers will no doubt ignore that fact as they rejoice the end of the Asian Bhatti brothers reign at Molineux which took the club to the brink of extinction.

"In the last decade the club has gone through hell with the Bhatti brothers, liquidators and receivers", said Hayward, "But we can look forward to a future full of golden glory".

And Hayward does appear to be making the right moves. Former Wolverhampton and England captain Billy Wright is joining the board and manager Graham Turner who has moulded together an excellent squad despite all the problems is to have his contract renewed.

Ground improvements are also high on the list of improvements with Molineux destined to become a football showpiece again as a 35,000 all-seater stadium.

Men of York

YORKSHIRE CRICKET Club are once again under pressure from Britain's Race Relations lobby to include foreign players in their side.

The County believes that only true Yorkshiremen should qualify to play for the team and despite all the outside pressure are sticking to their guns.

Race Relations Officers claim that Yorkshire haven't won the championship for the last 22 years because of that policy. But local supporters answer that jibe by saying "When Yorkshire with the championship it will be achieved by Yorkshiremen. Not a team from the United Nations!".

Trust Too Late For Colne!

BRITAIN'S FOOTBALL grounds can look forward to a £100 million face-lift thanks to new funding provided for the Football Trust.

The money will be spent on improving safety and spectator facilities. Trustee Tom Wharton, the chairman of the Football Grounds Improvement Trust, will be responsible for giving grant aid to the professional game and carrying out the recommendations of the Taylor Report.

One team that won't be receiving help for ground improvements is Colne Dynamoes (See last month's FLAG). They have been put into voluntary liquidation by owner/manager Graham White after he received abusive phone calls from fans after the club failed to gain promotion to the Vauxhall Conference League.

Colne won their league by 20 points but were refused entry to the Football League's 5th Division because their ground was not up to scratch.

Follow Saxby Storm

PARLIAMENT PIECE narrowly failed to provide The FLAG's punters with a nice little earner during July when three times he just failed to win big handicaps at rewarding odds.

Of the other tips Kadim ran poorly in the big sprint at Glorious Goodwood and Society Ball was not sighted all month.

August is a difficult month with little information to hand. However we do understand that Geoff Huffer's horses are begining to fire and Al Anba is fancied to set up a sequence after his victory at Leicester.

Ian Balding's Skazka looks the ticket in the coming spate of 1 mile 4 furlong amateur rider races.

For those punter's looking for something a bit special I have been told that Mrs Ramsden's Saxby Storm is worth following. Although disappointing recently, there has been a nice 1 mile 6 furlong handicap set aside for this one!

SETTING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

THE SPORT of canoeing is in crisis because of the polluted state of Britain's streams and rivers and the image given to it by television focus on whitewater canoeing.

The sport however is battling back to try to educate the public that there is more to canoeing than capsizing and being swamped with water.

Britain has many thousands of miles of slow moving and still water ideal for canoers of all ages and abilities. Just like rowing, the idea is to be on the water not in it.

● IN THE WATER: That's not what canoeing is all about.

The British Canoe Union believe too much emphasis is based on beginners learning the capsize drill and that many find it too traumatic and are lost to canoeing forever.

Capsizing is not par for the course as intimated by television coverage. Being immersed in polluted disease-ridden water is for emergencies only and should be avoided at all times.

Windbag ..... Bowled Militant . . 0

WHILE THE Neil Kinnock is allegedly spending vast amounts of time scouring the country for members of Militant Tendency within his Party, The FLAG suggests he looks a little closer to home.

Last month members of the Tribune Group played a cricket match against Militant Tendency. Militant not only put out a full team of 100% Labour Party members but also handed out a three wicked defeat to Neil's colleagues.

It all makes the Welsh Windbag's huffing and puffing about Militant a bit empty don't you think?

OUR APOLOGIES

THE FLAG would like to apologize for the absence of the usual reports from the National Front Administration Department. This is due to the installation of the new Head Office computer, the training of staff and the loading of data on to the equipment.

The state of play with regards to the Building Fund, Election Fund and General Administration will hopefully be included in the September issue of The FLAG.
